HINDENBURG DILATES ON ECONOMIC USE TROOPS

"Gain of Ground and Marne
Only Catch Words Without Importance," Is Boast.

Amsterdam, Sunday, Aug. 4.—The enemy invaded us on July 15, and we thereupon, as early as the evening of the 16th, broke off operations. It is always our endeavor to stop an undertaking as soon as the stake is not worth the cost. I consider it one of my principal duties to spare the blood and strength of our soldiers.

Gen. Ludendorff, first quartermaster-general of the German army, made this statement to an assemblage of German newspaper correspondents who were received by Field Marshal Von Hindenburg and Ludendorff today.

"His plan was undoubtedly to cut off the entire area of our front south of the Aisne by a break through the flank. But with the brave leadership of our Seventh and Ninth that was quite impossible.

"We reckoned with an attack on July 18 and were prepared for it. The enemy experienced very heavy losses on the American and African auxiliary troops, which we do not underestimate, suffered severely.

"By the afternoon of the 19th we already were masters of the situation, and shall remain so. We have the abandoned ground to the enemy according to our regular plans. 'Gain of ground' and 'Marne' are only catch words without importance for the issue of the war. We are now, as before, confident."

Field Marshal Von Hindenburg also dilated on how economically the troops of Germany had been used. He said:

"This circumstance and supply considerations decided our measures, and we transferred the fighting to favorable ground, where the troops could easily be supplied.

"We all want peace, but it must be peace with honor."

The correspondents declare that Von Hindenburg is in the best of health.

Furniture will never sell for any less than it does today. The ever-increasing demand upon furniture manufacturers for war material, such as airplane parts, etc., is constantly reducing the output of furniture.

Prices are regulated by supply and demand—the greater the demand upon a curtailed output, the higher the prices.

Far-sighted customers appreciate far-sighted merchants.

We foresaw these conditions early, bought heavily, and today stand ready to give you values that can not be duplicated, either now or for a long time in the future.

We cannot buy as cheaply today as we bought this merchandise months ago—therefore, from an intimate knowledge of present and future conditions, we advise:

NEED, AND BUY IT NOW!
